

50+ easy ways to be a missionary

Written by a member of The Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-day Saints

In conversation ...

- “This weekend, this cool thing happened at my church ...”
- Tell the next telemarketer that you’ll listen to their message if they listen to yours
- Take an online language learning class on italki or Baselang and share your beliefs with your teacher
- Record the following message as your voicemail, “Hi! You’ve reached _____. Sorry I missed your call. If you want to learn more about Jesus, let me know. Otherwise, you can visit churchofjesuschrist.org. Have a great day!”
- When your non-member friend asks you what’s new, tell them about the newest temple that was announced or the latest talk that President Nelson gave
- Ask other people about their own beliefs and be genuine
- Be bold and unashamed when talking about your beliefs

Day-to-day ...

- Put an “I love Jesus” sign in your front yard
- Attach an “I love Jesus” bumper sticker on your car
- Place a basket of free Books of Mormon on your front porch for the delivery people
- Leave a Book of Mormon and a thank you note in the mailbox for the mailperson
- Display images of Christ throughout your entire home
- Give pass along cards and Books of Mormon away at your next yard sale
- Invite your non-member friends to the next baptism, baby blessing or missionary farewell in your ward
- Leave a Book of Mormon in a Little Free Library
- Place an uplifting quote or note on the windshield of a car that you park next to
- Give a homeless person a pass along card and a warm meal
- Invite a non-member to speak or teach a skill in your ward
- Attach an “I love Jesus” keychain to your car keys
- Join an interfaith choir during the holidays
- Welcome everyone in your social circle regardless of religious affiliation

Important note: The ideas listed on this handout are solely the opinion of My Silly Squirts and is not an official publication of the Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-day Saint.

To learn more about our beliefs visit churchofjesuschrist.org.

On vacation ...

- Leave a Book of Mormon in the hotel room or Airbnb where you stayed
- Carry a pass along card with you wherever you go
- If you’re from Utah, when people ask you where you are from, say, “I’m from Utah,” and then give them a pass along card and say, “This is what Utah is about.”
- Openly read a physical copy of the Book of Mormon on an airplane
- Give your Uber driver a pass along card, every time
- Leave a pass along card next to your tip at a restaurant
- Ask people for directions to the closest chapel for the Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-day Saints
- Leave a pass along card or Book of Mormon on the airplane after you leave

By example ...

- Invite a neighbor over to dinner at your house
- Don’t swear
- Wear modest clothing
- Participate in a service project from Just Serve
- Get involved in the community
- Volunteer to coach your child’s sports team
- Weed your neighbor’s flower beds
- Pay for the meal of the person behind you in the drive through
- Join a book group
- Smile
- Volunteer in your child’s class at school
- Celebrate other religious holidays such as Ramadan, Hanukkah and Lent
- Start a playgroup that welcomes ALL of the kids in your neighborhood

Social media

- Follow other religious social media groups and actively comment on their posts
- Post images of baptisms, service projects, etc.
- Create a YouTube channel, Instagram or Facebook profile or podcast that focuses on Christ
- Share what you are grateful for such as temples, families, Jesus
- Advertise and invite others to watch General Conference
- Share your conversion story online
- Follow the profiles of the missionaries serving in your ward and comment on their posts
- Only post things online that would reflect a representative of Christ